

A photograph of a modern meeting room. A long, dark wooden table is set with several black chairs. On the table are several glass bottles of water, some with labels, and some papers. The room has large windows with a view of greenery outside. A radiator is visible under the windows. A large potted plant is in the corner. The text 'MITOSIS LAB' is in the top left corner, and 'rent your meeting room in Berlin' is in the bottom left corner.

hosting your meeting

We offer a highly flexible venue to accommodate your needs on an individual basis and tailored to your budget and group size. One-time or regular events such as conferences, training sessions, workshops, presentations or corporate dinners all find a place at our two-floor location in an old Berlin factory building with a unique interior design.

We take a professional approach to detail, allowing you to focus on your meeting. Please tell us what you require; we can probably make it happen.

services

In addition to the rent, feel free to book a range of devices and facilities, catering, service personnel, or alternative room setups for the solid wooden tables and office or auditorium chairs. Feel free to use the open kitchen with a professional espresso machine and a grand piano, or sit back in one of several couch corners.
